Columbia University and Via Benefits: More choices and greater flexibility for your coverage
Welcome

Experience health care coverage in a whole new way
Via Benefits, a national leader in Medicare coordination and transition services, has helped more than two million retirees from over 560 employers understand their options and enroll in the Medicare marketplace. Via Benefits represents a wide variety of plans from more than 120 regional health insurance companies.

Enrollment made easy. Through Via Benefits, trained and licensed benefit advisors will provide personal assistance over the phone to help you and your dependent enroll. You will also have access to resources and tools to learn about the Medicare supplemental plans available in your area. Advisors will work with you to compare plan choices and help you choose the coverage that best meets your needs and budget. Via Benefits offers:

- Unbiased information about the individual Medicare marketplace, the types of plans available in your area, how much they cost and the benefits they cover.
- Guidance and decision-making support, based on your current coverage and expected future medical needs.
- An enrollment guide, which will be mailed to your home in early October.
- Help with enrollment in your new medical and/or prescription drug coverage, as well as vision and dental coverage if you choose a plan other than the Columbia University dental plan.
- Help understanding how your new Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA) will work.
- A comprehensive website (my.viabenefits.com/columbia) with helpful videos and tools to compare plans.
- Ongoing support after enrollment, including help with claims questions.

This change only affects Medicare-eligible retirees 65 and older, and Medicare-eligible covered spouses/same-sex domestic partners. It does not affect active Columbia University employees until they retire, or retirees or their covered dependents who are not yet Medicare-eligible.

ENROLLMENT IS NOT AUTOMATIC

While you are not currently enrolled in a University medical plan, you have the option to enroll in a medical plan through Via Benefits between October 15, 2022 and December 7, 2022 to have health coverage beginning January 1, 2023 and be eligible for an HRA contribution from Columbia University. This will be your only opportunity to enroll in medical coverage for 2023.
Eligibility

IMPORTANT! You must be enrolled in Medicare Parts A and B

You must have Medicare Parts A and B coverage to enroll in medical coverage through the Medicare marketplace. If you’re not currently enrolled, contact Social Security immediately:

- Visit www.medicare.gov
- Call 1-800-772-1213
- Visit your local Social Security office

Yourself

If you are currently retired or a surviving spouse/same-sex domestic partner, age 65 or older, enrolled in Medicare Parts A and B, and enrolled in a Columbia University group medical plan, you are eligible to enroll in your 2023 coverage through Via Benefits.

Your Spouse/Same-sex Domestic Partner

If your spouse/same-sex domestic partner is currently age 65 or older and enrolled in Medicare Parts A and B, then they are eligible to enroll in 2023 coverage through Via Benefits.

If your spouse/same-sex domestic partner is currently under the age of 65 and enrolled in Columbia University’s retiree medical plan, they will not be affected by the coverage changes discussed here until they turn age 65.

Once your spouse/same-sex domestic partner reaches age 64, they will begin to receive information from Via Benefits and will then have access to the enrollment support offered through Via Benefits. If eligible and enrolled in a Medical plan through Via Benefits, your spouse/same-sex domestic partner will also become eligible for an HRA (see page 3). Until your spouse/same-sex domestic partner approaches age 65 they should continue to enroll or make changes to coverage by contacting the Columbia University Benefits Service Center at 212-851-7000 or email at hrbenefits@columbia.edu.

If your covered spouse/same-sex domestic partner is not yet eligible for Medicare, they will continue to have health coverage through the Columbia University-sponsored plan, and should make changes through the Benefits Service Center, until age 65. When they turn age 64, Via Benefits will begin to provide information about what your spouse/same-sex domestic partner needs to do to enroll for post-65 coverage and receive the HRA contribution.
Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA)

An HRA is a tax-free account where Columbia University will make contributions as long as you are eligible for University retiree health benefits* and enrolled in a Medicare plan through Via Benefits. The HRA is a reimbursement account which gives you flexibility in how your subsidy dollars from Columbia are used—you can be reimbursed from the HRA for post-65 medical and prescription drug coverage premiums and/or other eligible expenses.

To qualify for the HRA, you/your spouse/same-sex domestic partner (if applicable) must be enrolled in Medicare Parts A and B, and enroll in a Medicare Advantage or Medicare Supplement (Medigap) plan through Via Benefits.

How HRAs Work

Your HRA is a joint account for you and your Medicare-eligible covered spouse/same-sex domestic partner. This means you and your spouse/same-sex domestic partner will share the funding that each of you receive, similar to a joint checking account. Any unused funds remaining in your HRA at the end of the calendar year will roll over to the next calendar year. For details, please review the Summary Plan Description ( SPD) which will be mailed to you within 120 days of January 1st.

HRA Funding Amount

The University contributes a set amount each year to a Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA) based on your date of retirement. This contribution is placed into a joint account if both you and your spouse/same-sex domestic partner are covered by a medical plan. This amount will be available January 1, 2023, and each subsequent January 1st.

Expense Reimbursement

Your HRA is a reimbursement account. You will pay for eligible expenses up front, then request reimbursement directly from Via Benefits. Note that you cannot reimburse yourself for expenses incurred before January 1, 2023, the date your HRA becomes effective.

Both Retired From Columbia University

If you and your spouse/same-sex domestic partner both retired from Columbia University, regardless of whether you are currently enrolled separately or under family coverage, you will each receive the retiree amount into a joint account and these funds can be used for eligible expenses for one or both of you. You share the funds.

Learn More

You can learn more about your HRA by contacting Via Benefits. The Via Benefits Reimbursement Guide will be sent to your home, if you enroll in new coverage through Via Benefits, in early January 2023.

Additional Coverage

Catastrophic Prescription Drug Coverage Benefit

If you enroll in a medical plan through Via Benefits, you may be eligible for additional funding to help cover high out-of-pocket prescription drug costs, should you need it. A small percentage of Medicare-eligible Americans may qualify for this Catastrophic Coverage Account, which provides additional funds to reimburse you for prescription drug out-of-pocket expenses once you meet the catastrophic coverage threshold (determined each year by the Center for Medicare Services).

For retirees with high drug costs, Columbia University will provide reimbursement of out-of-pocket drug co-payments and coinsurance once a participant reaches the Medicare Part D catastrophic level of drug coverage. More information about this additional benefit will be provided in the Via Benefits Reimbursement Guide which will be mailed to you in early January 2023, or you can call Via Benefits to learn more.
Prepare for the Change

Open Enrollment

If you choose to enroll in a medical plan through Via Benefits, enrollment dates for 2023 Retiree Medical Coverage are October 15, 2022 - December 7, 2022. During this period, you will have a one-on-one call with a Via Benefits representative who will walk you through the process. This preliminary call will likely be 40 minutes in length. You are welcome to have an additional person on the call with you (a spouse/same-sex domestic partner, adult child, caretaker, etc.) to help you make sure you get the most out of this meeting.

In addition to your personal enrollment meeting, you can call Via Benefits anytime with questions at 1-833-945-1109, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Eastern time.

Note: A Power of Attorney does not need to be documented UNLESS the participant is incapacitated or otherwise unable to provide verbal authorization on the phone. If an agent cannot obtain verbal authorization, the agent must request documentation. If a participant has an email address, agents can email documentation instructions.

What You Need to Do

Enrollment is not automatic. While you are not currently enrolled in a University medical plan, you have the option to enroll in a medical plan through Via Benefits between October 15, 2022 and December 7, 2022 to have health coverage beginning January 1, 2023 and be eligible for an HRA contribution from Columbia University. This will be your only opportunity to enroll in medical coverage for 2023.

To prepare for this change, we recommend that you:

- Read all of the information you receive from Columbia University and Via Benefits.
- Update your contact information (address and phone number) by calling 1-833-945-1109.
- Attend a retiree webinar (see the virtual meeting schedule on page 7) to learn more and ask questions, and interact with representatives from CUHR Benefits and Via Benefits.
- Schedule a call with a Via Benefits advisor. Call Via Benefits any time to set up your pre-enrollment meeting or to ask questions. Via Benefits will also begin reaching out to you in August 2022 to set a time to help you prepare to enroll.
- Enroll through Via Benefits between October 15, 2022 - December 7, 2022.
More Information

We understand that you will have many questions about this transition. You’ll find more details in the mailings from Via Benefits: Introducing Via Benefits Guide which will be mailed to your home address beginning the week of August 8, 2022, the Get Ready to Enroll mailer which will be sent in early October, and in the Via Benefits Reimbursement Guide which you will receive in January 2023.

Personal Support
For in-depth support, assistance with this transition, and detailed questions about your coverage options, please contact Via Benefits directly 1-833-945-1109, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Eastern time.

Live Virtual Meetings - Register Today

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the Medicare marketplace?
The Medicare marketplace refers to all the individual insurance coverage choices insurance companies across the country make available to Medicare-eligible retirees. The Medicare marketplace is separate from state marketplaces connected with the Affordable Care Act. The marketplace can offer expanded choices at affordable prices by leveraging the buying power of millions of retirees who enroll for coverage.

Can I choose to remain in Columbia University’s sponsored retiree medical coverage?
No. Columbia University’s traditional retiree medical coverage for Medicare-eligible retirees and Medicare-eligible covered spouses/same-sex domestic partners will end on December 31, 2022.

Does my spouse/same-sex domestic partner need to enroll in the same plan in which I enroll?
No. You and your Medicare-eligible covered spouse/same-sex domestic partner can choose to enroll in different plans.

Are my options and rates affected by my current or past health?
No, not if you enroll in an individual plan during your enrollment period and before your current health coverage expires. During this time, insurers cannot deny your application or charge you more because a doctor has treated you for a health condition. Premiums may be higher if you use any tobacco products, however.

What can I expect to pay for my new plan?
Based on data available for Medicare plans available in the top 5 locations where Columbia University retirees live, we expect more than 99% of our participants to see cost savings. The rates for your new plan will depend on the coverage you select. Your benefit advisor at Via Benefits will assist you in selecting plans based on your medical and financial needs. Please review the cost example on page 4.

How long does enrollment take?
The time it takes to complete your enrollment can vary, depending upon the number of plans you select, as a separate application needs to be completed for each plan. Most people will call and consult with an advisor during the pre-enrollment period to evaluate their needs and receive guidance on the plans available in their area. This call averages about 40 minutes. A second call during your enrollment window to complete your applications should take less than 30 minutes. You can also research plans on the website and complete your enrollments there for most plans. The Introducing Via Benefits Guide you will receive next will provide you with more detailed information about the steps to take.

Does Via Benefits offer vision insurance?
Vision insurance plans are available through Via Benefits. There is a separate cost to enroll in a vision plan. For more information on these plans, visit the Via Benefits website or ask about them during your call.

Does Via Benefits offer dental insurance?
The Columbia University Dental plan remains available for all retirees and their dependents. There are also dental plans available through Via Benefits. There is a separate cost to enroll in a dental plan. For more information on these plans, visit the Via Benefits website or ask about them during your call.

Can I continue to see my current doctor?
If you want to continue to see your current doctor(s), before you call to enroll, ask your doctor(s) which insurance plans they accept. And, when you enroll, have each doctor’s name and address to share with the Via Benefits advisor.
